Public is invited to browse and bid on unique birdhouses, feeders, pillows and wall hangings

NEW HOLLAND, Pa. —Jan. 16, 2011 — When the first robins of the year arrive, welcome them with a one-of-a-kind birdhouse. More than 40 unique, handcrafted birdhouses and feeders will be on display, along with bird-themed wall hangings and pillows, during the annual Garden Spot Village Birdhouse Display and Silent Auction. The public is invited to this year's event, which runs from Feb. 1 through Feb. 29.

“From traditional birdhouses and feeders to some very whimsical designs, there is something for every taste. The creativity is truly amazing,” said Linda Dodge, director of development for Garden Spot Village.
