

THE CHRISTMAS STORY WILL COME ALIVE AT GARDEN SPOT VILLAGE

The public is invited to a live nativity scene in the chapel on Dec. 15

NEW HOLLAND, Pa. — Nov. 23, 2010 — The Garden Spot Village retirement community at 433 S. Kinzer Ave. is bringing the Christmas story to life with a live nativity scene in its chapel on Wed., Dec. 15. In addition to costumed residents, staff members and their families portraying the biblical scene, the program will also feature the Village Voices Choir performing favorite Christmas hymns and carols.

“We started with a single performance of the live nativity back in 2004. The attendance was so overwhelming that we have offered two performances every year since,” said Colleen Musselman, director of life enrichment at the retirement community.

This year, the 7 p.m. performance is open to the general public, family and friends. A 2 p.m. performance is reserved for Garden Spot Village residents. Each performance runs not more than an hour, and the program is free.
